

Goblin Battle!

As you move about the thick brush you come across a clearing. It is eerily silent and your gut tells you to be on the ready. You steady your hand near your weapon as you move slowly through the clearing.

Suddenly birds fly out from a tree, as if they were startled by something, and as quickly as that thought enters your mind 2 goblins, swords in hand, jump out from behind some bushes!

They steady their weapons and point them directly at you and you remove yours from your holster. They cackle in a high pitched tone as they slowly move about in front of you.

"Give us your gold or we will take it!" one hisses. "Haha...take it, take it!" the other shrieks!

You will not be giving up anything ~ it is time for battle!